Sana Jardin Berber Blonde, £180; sanajardin.com

The founder of this new perfume house, Amy Christiansen Si-Ahmed, was a pro bono adviser for the Clinton Foundation before teaming up with master perfumer Carlos Benaim to create seven charismatic fragrances. The harvesters in Morocco have been taught new social enterprise skills so they can upcycle the leftovers into a line of orange blossom water and candles, and keep 100 per cent of that revenue. Berber Blonde is a warm rendition of orange blossom and feels like a tonic on a dark winter's night.
